NPtHA Spotlight!

Meet NJPtHA Youth Member
Steven Schneider
2023 Pinto Duke

My name is Steven Schneider, and I am pleased to represent Nebraska Pinto Horse Association as their 2023 Duke. I am 10 years old and in the 5th grade. I enjoy 4H, Taekwondo and Cub Scouts, but most of all I enjoy spending time with my miniature horse Boots Galore. Our favorite classes are color and jumping. I look forward to seeing everyone and want to wish everyone a safe and fun show season for 2023.

We will be spotlighting members throughout the year!

Did You Know? 🤔

MYTHBUSTERS

X “Horses don’t have a preference for water temperature.”

✓ FACT:

When horses were offered water at 66°F they drank 40% more than when offered water at 32-38°F. Most water consumption (82%) happened within 3 hours of feeding so this time is the most important to have warm water available.

AAEP

On average horses drink 7-10 gallons of water a day and this remains as important in cold weather as it is in the summer because reduced water intake can lead to gastrointestinal problems such as the dreaded impaction colic.

Studies demonstrate that horses will drink more if provided access to heated water and that most water consumption happens within three hours of feeding. How can you use this information to your advantage? Refill buckets at feed time with warm water to maximize your horse’s water intake—especially in the winter when water is more likely to be freezing or close to freezing.

As always, if you have any questions or would like to learn more about preventing colic in your horse, your equine veterinarian remains your best source of information!

Brought to you by the AAEP Horse Owner Education Committee.

At the PthA Annual Convention several important and informative meetings will take place impacting the future of the Pinto Horse Association. Some of the meetings include the general membership meeting, Board of Director meeting, Executive meeting, Long Range Planning meeting, committee meetings and professional horsemen's meeting. There will also be seminars for show management and field representatives held. Our Hall of Fame banquet is held to honor those inductees, along with an auction to benefit the Pinto Heritage Foundation scholarship funds. The Year End and Lifetime Awards presentation will be held after the general membership meeting on Saturday. The end of the convention will feature the induction of the new PthA Executive Committee.
